

(shopping)

Fine Lines

Side tables, shelving units, even knickknacks are all getting wired. The result? Rustic charm meets industrial chic

This galvanized-steel side table by Stephen Burks for Arterica also functions as three separate pieces: a tray, a bowl and a basket (height: 25", top diameter: 23", $440; artericainc.com for stores).

Group these hand-crafted iron songbirds for maximum impact (H: 4 1/4"-7", $18-$38; sundancecatalog.com).

Moda Home's trio of steel baskets and redwood stand let you air your dirty laundry in style (H: 21", width: 28", depth: 18", $150; 800-527-9447).

Pottery Barn's distressed-finish iron basket can handle toys, towels or whatever else you have on hand (H: 9", diam.: 13", $49; potterybarn.com).

Shelve the idea of a wooden bookcase and go for this divided iron stand instead (H: 64", W: 24", D: 18", $395; sundancecatalog.com).

Shape up a staid space with designer Tucker Robbins's geometric iron stool (H: 18", diam.: 14", $480; tuckerrobbs.com).

An epoxy coating protects this Peddler's Home Design steel chair indoors and out (H: 31 1/4", W: 27", D: 24", $259; at Pullen, 404-262-2296. ■

Steel takes a delicate turn in Jamie Young's sun-shaped lamp, paired here with an equally sheer organza shade (H: 22", diam.: 10", $450 with shade; 866-295-2677 for stores).